

Go where all roads lead...

University of Washington Department of English

Writers in Rome Program

Summer Quarter 2019 June 24—July 20, 2019

JOIN a band of ink-stained wayfarers for a Mediterranean spring full of walk, talk, and literary comradeship in and about the Eternal City. As readers, we'll consider the words and thoughts of novelists, poets and sundry quill-drivers who followed that road before us. As writers, we'll put ourselves in their shoes, pounding the cobbles daily, notebooks in hand. In addition to art and architecture, we'll explore the natural history of an ancient environment that set the conditions for Rome to become Rome, the world's first multicultural nation-state.

Priority Application Deadline: January 31, 2019

Program Faculty: Kevin Craft (Director), Andrew Feld, & Katharine Ogle

Our faculty has more than 20 years of experience guiding students through the Eternal City. Each has published extensively and, in addition to teaching literature and writing, works as an editor for the Northwest's most prominent literary journals—Poetry Northwest and Seattle Review.

We welcome all students. No experience in literary analysis or creative writing is presumed. No knowledge of Italian is presumed or required. Some language instruction will be offered during the course of the program.

Cost: $5,000+$450 Study Abroad fee This includes: classes, group field trips, housing, Rome Center services and facilities at the Palazzo Pio. It does not include: airfare, food, health insurance, or personal spending money. Program fees are paid in lieu of tuition. There is no additional tuition cost. Most forms of financial aid are applicable to UW Foreign Study.

For specific questions about the program, contact Kevin Craft at kjc95@uw.edu
For More Information and to start your application, please visit:

<https://english.washington.edu/study-abroad/2019/summer-2019-creative-writing-rome>